Research and Research Communication is in the midst of system wide change. New opportunities for communicating reproducible, FAIR, and open research are bringing with them new expectations, standards and means of demonstrating success and impact.

FSCI is a 5-day intensive summer training institute August 3-7, 2020 designed to empower researchers, administrators, librarians, students and others to navigate this new ecosystem of 21st Century research. Join us in Los Angeles to learn more about how this world is changing around you.